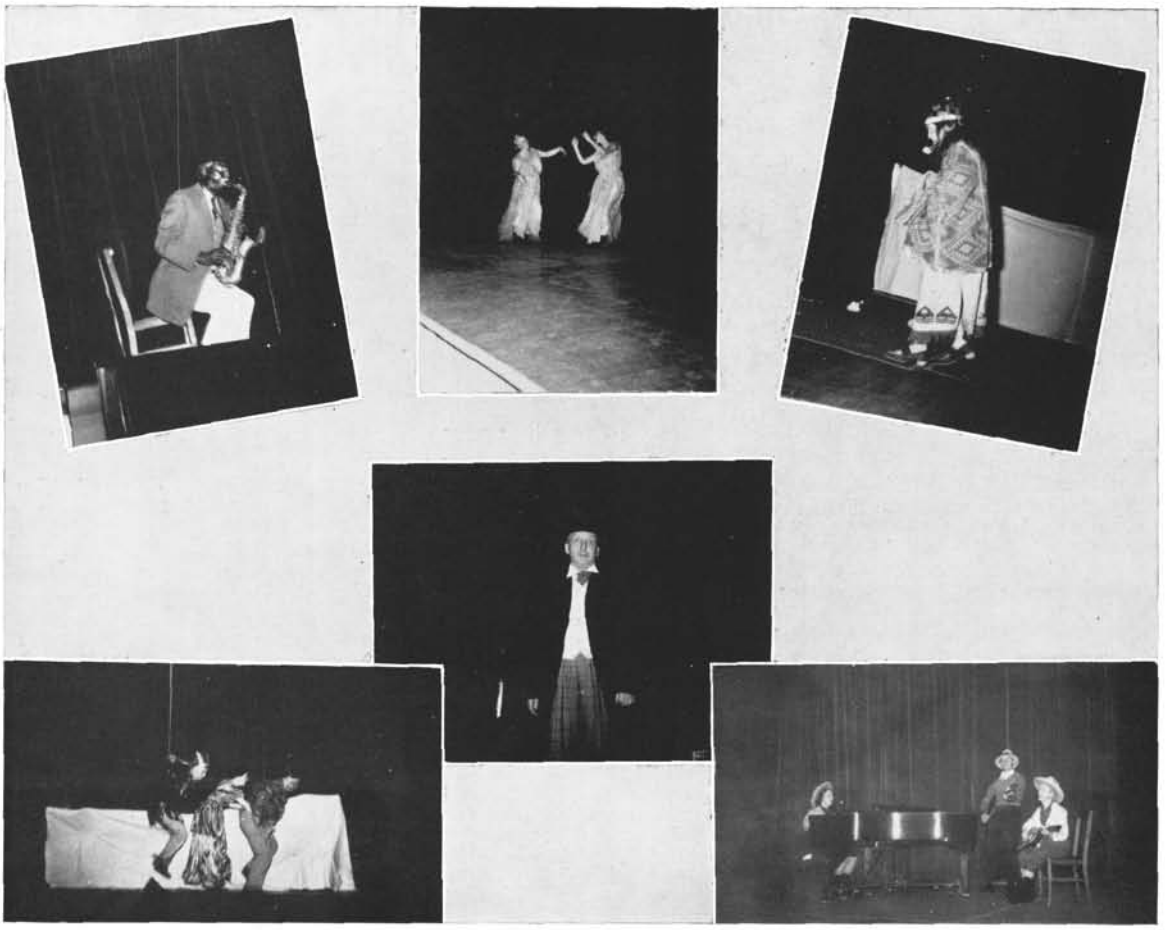
FACULTY VARIETY NIGHT



Top row: (left to right) Mr. Kiser as "Old Black Joe" and his saxophone. "Lena and Tena" in their interpretative dance. Miss Bede, complete with pipe, as Hula-Hula, the Medicine Woman.

Center: Mr. Dunham, the "Accordian Man"

Bottom: Lady Vere de Vere is captured by two ferocious Indians, Sitting Bull and Bull Durham. The faculty Hill Billies: Miss Scheidler, Mr. Crawford, and Miss Lippitt.

An innovation this year in the entertainment schedule of the school was the presentation of a faculty Variety Night on November 15 for the students. All members of the staff participated in the program which was patterned after the annual Student Variety Night. Many and varied were the acts, ranging from a badminton demonstration to an exhibition of aesthetic dancing. Many of the students seemed surprised at the talents which, until this program, had remained undiscovered. In the field of music there were "Sappy Sal", "Old Black Joe", "The Four Hoarse Men", "Three B's and No Honey", and an instrumental Hill-Billy trio. The two dramatic productions of the evening were a moving rendition of "In 1492", and "Wild Nell, the Pet of the Plains" in which some amazing characters were portrayed. Miscellaneous acts included "Lena and Tena", a chemistry demonstration proving that water is always a colorless liquid, "Kaltenmeyer's Kindergarten", a chalk talk, and a badminton game. The program was brought to a close with a faculty speech choir in which the entire group took part. As at the Student Variety Night, prizes were awarded to the outstanding acts. The hearty applause and the numerous encores indicated that the faculty had been successful in amusing the student audience.