OUT-DOOR FESTIVAL.

Saturday, October 24.

There have been several pleasant social events since school opened. One of these was an October out-door festival held on a Saturday evening in the grove back of the Home Economics building. In place of supper at the dining hall the students roasted weiners and had other essentials necessary for a picnic supper out-of-doors. After this there was a program of games and athletic stunts, consisting of sack races, imitation pillow fight, tug of war, etc., which caused much amusement. A huge bonfire served as illumination and spread cheer and good spirit among those present. Not a small feature of the occasion was a "ghost walk" by a number of "spirits" which caused fear and consternation among the Freshmen.

Saturday, October 31.

The Hallowe'en party given in the gymnasium proved to be the usual happy event and various stunts and tricks caused mirth to reign supreme throughout the evening. After the program of events necessary to a gathering on this evening the students indulged in games for the rest of the evening. It is rumored that the "evil spirits" were abroad later during the night. This can be testified to by several members of the faculty who were looking after the equipment.

Monday, November 2.

Senior program. Features were solos by Jones, Miss Gunderson and Mills, and a debate on the question, "Resolved, That sweet clover is a better crop for the Red River Valley than alfalfa." C. Cannon and C. Clementson maintained the negative, and W. Johnston and H. Grandy the negative. Affirmative won.

Tuesday, November 3.

The Senior Class celebrated "Voting at the Polls." Band practice with the usual good results.

Friday, November 6.

A large delegation of from three hundred to four hundred teachers who were attending the Teachers' Convention in Crookston came out to visit our school. The Senior girls served refreshments in the Home Economics building while the boys served as escorts. The boys seemed to like it.

Saturday, November 7.

Meetings were held by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

Monday, November 9.

The Junior program consisted of readings and papers by the Juniors and of several selections by the Byrne trio.
