

Thursday, January 21.

Supt. F. E. Lurton, of the Detroit schools, accompanied by the debating team of that school, paid the school a visit, and at the same time spoke to the students and faculty upon the very interesting subject of "Farm Life." They were on their way home from Ada, Minn., where they had debated the high school team.

Friday, January 22.

The Aggie basket ball team went to Grand Forks, N. D., to play the high school team of that city. The Aggies cleaned them up 38-25. About 100 students and faculty members went along. A large share of the good basket shooting was due to the fact that the boys wore "shears and sawbuck" shoes. (Smile).

Mr. C. Harris took sick when the rooters came back with the score and from the effects has not been feeling well the remainder of the term.

Saturday, January 23.

Inter-class game was played between the Juniors and Freshie. Won by the Juniors 28-12. Entertainment followed the game.

C. Clementson yelled for the Freshies. Why?

Whom did Lindberg and Grandy yell for?

Sunday, January 24.

Amanda Hanson spent the day in Crookston visiting relatives.

Meetings were held by the associations. Mr. Selvig spoke to the Y. M. C. A. boys.

Monday, January 25.

The Junior program was a huge success. Their four piece orchestra gave a few selections and others gave fine readings.

The first team went to Thief River Falls to play basket ball.

Tuesday, January 26.

The first team came back this morning looking very long faced. We lost by a score of 32-29.

New music for the band received today.

Wednesday, January 27.

Mr. F. B. McLeran, of the Extension Division, favored the students with a very good talk at chapel this morning. His talk was given with a view of showing the advantages of farm life over that of city life, as he himself was brought up in the city but moved to the country later on. He spends the summers on his farm and his winters in the service of the Extension Division.
