

CLASS PROPHECY

In the course of human events it has come to pass that the one who was intrusted with the 1917 class prophecy was, in the spirit, transported far into the future, and flying over the earth in an areoplane, was shown the fortunes of his classmates. These are the fortunes as they were revealed:

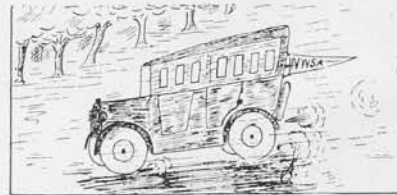

Magnus Spjut is an ambassador to India. He puts his advanced ideas into effect with remarkable results. His slogan is: "Head Work."

Walter Peterson is an orator and spellbinder. He can guarantee to put any audience to sleep in twenty minutes.

Josie Imsdahl is a happy and prosperous housewife. Her home is a model and credit to any countryside. Her slogan is: "Swat the fly."

Marion Johnson reads his name with a Prof. before it. He does extension work from this school, but he hopes some day to become town clerk at Felton.
