With the closing of the school year of 1917 another class will join the revered ranks of the Alumni of the Northwest School of Agriculture. Though our days in school are over, one evidence of loyalty to our Alma Mater remains, that is our coming back every March and making the Alumni meeting and banquet a success. Let the old boys and girls of N. W. S. A. mingle with the new boys and girls who are yet untried in the many ways of the world and to each give an encouraging word and a helping hand and remember

“To return and show our comrades
 We’re as loyal as of old,
 And cheer them on to victory
 Neath the maroon and the gold.”
