

DAY BY DAY

Herbert Anderson, James Kirkeby, Mr. T. R. Sewall, Mr. T. M. McCall, Miss Sophie Monson, Miss Olive Larness, Walter Peterson, Mrs. A. F. Haig.

Supt. Selvig closed the evening with an impressive talk to the Seniors, pointing out their opportunities and what was expected of them.

It was altogether one of the most attractive and delightful entertainments ever held on the campus, and the Junior class and their sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Sewall are to be congratulated.

The Fourth Annual Inter-class Field Meet was held in the gymnasium, Saturday evening, March 25, 1916. This is the annual contest in which both boys and girls, representatives of the classes, compete. The summary of the events and the winners in each were as follows:

INTER-SOCIETY DEBATE.

A most interesting event took place here March 27, 1916, namely the inter-society debate between the Lincoln and Pioneer for a beautiful silver cup presented to the winning team by Supt. Selvig.

The teams representing these debating societies gave a very spirited argument on the question, "Resolved, that a system of rural co-operative credit banks presents the best solution for the rural credit problems."

Affirmative, (Lincoln) Walter Sheridan, '17; Olaf Krogseng, '18; Peter Ness, '17.

Negative, (Pioneer) Ole Flaatt, '16; Magnus Spjut, '17; Helge Krogseng, Adv.

The judges were Principal C. H. Giese, Attorney W. P. Murphy and W. L. Ireland of Crookston.

Their decision was rendered in favor of the negative.

In his presentation speech, Mr. Selvig congratulated both teams on the work they had done, and discussed briefly the advantages to be gained from the kind of public speaking and debating work their respective societies stood for.

Mr. McCall, the coach of the winning team, was called upon for a few remarks after the cup was presented. Music was furnished by the Agricultural School orchestra.
