

ODDS AND ENDS

Jests, Jolts and Jollity

Teacher: If angry with another little boy, what should you do?

Tommy Abbot: Sit on him and count 200.

Dealer: You've had the parrot nearly a month, what do you want to return it for?

Emil: Why the b—b— bloomin' bird st—t—t—ammers.

A day or two after Farmer Jones sold a pig to one of his neighbors he happened to pass the latter's farm and saw his little boy sitting on the top rail of the pen intently watching the new pig.

"Hello 'ommy," said Jones, "How's the pig today?"

"Oh, he's all right, thank you," replied Tommy, "How's all your folks?"

Auntie: In that letter from James, what do those X's a the the bottom mean?

The Niece: Kisses, auntie.

Auntie: Well, they are the only hygienic kind anyway.

Wifey: Dear, order a mouse trap to be sent up home today.

Hubby: But you bought one last week.

Wifey: Yes, but there is a mouse in it.

Patriotic Woman: Now young man, why aren't you at the front?

Arthur Skonovd (milking cow): 'Cause there aint any milk at that end, Missus.

Freshie (to Senior): Have you a minute to spare?

Senior: Sure.

Freshie: Then tell me all you know.

Mr. McCall: What is the second stage of an insects's life?

Sam: The thorax.

Oscar: I wonder if those boys are brothers.

Rass: I know one of them is, I'm not sure of the other.

Mr. Bengtson: What do you do in the music room? Do you go there to rest?

Fred: Yes, we have a Holliday up there.

James: Many women have no sense of humor at all.

Lettie: Many men have no sense at all.

Charley is a jolly man,

Little, fat and rosy.

When he tried to stand on skates,

He tumbled on his nose.

Mr. Bengtson: Now will you define a vacuum?

Bright Junior: I have it in my head, but I can not define it.

Fred Johnson: I am indebted to you for all I know.

Sam Anderson: Don't mention such a trifle.

Henry O.: Why does my head sink before the rest of my body when I'm in swimming?

Mr. Bengtson: Because your head is denser than the rest of your body.

"Reddy," Osgaard-Carl, why does the music teacher always call my name before singing?

Carl I: How's that? You must be mistaken.

R. O.: No, I am not—she always says "Reddy sing."

"Dad, will you let me have 50 plunks?"

"Do you mean 50 dollars?"

"Yes, if it is all the same to you?"

"Well, it's all the same to me. You can't have them."

When Garceau was a little chap he went with his grandpa to church. In the midst of the ceremonies he piped up. "Oh, say grandpa, would you like to hear our football yell?"

Helen Sathre was paying her first visit to the farm. One day she came running excitedly and exclaimed: "Oh! mamma! Grandpa's out in the barn husing a hen!"

Walter Sheridan to the busy barber, "How soon can I get a shave?"

Barber: Oh, in about three years.

"Rass": What's all that noise in the bathroom?

James: Oh, that's Fred shaving.

"Were you ever surrounded by wolves?"

"No, but I know the sensation. I used to open the dining room door at the A. C."

Freshman girl: I can't make the water stay in this wash basin?

Senior girl: Well, try putting in the plug.

How doth the gentle laundress

Search out the weakest joints,

At the most strategic points.

And always scrape the buttons off

Before the debate—"Where is Mr. Larson?"

"Oh, he is in the auditorium developing the negatives."