

J. P. BENGTON

ACADEMIC

The academic courses are selected with a view to instructing the students in those subjects that will be of most value to them as intelligent citizens and community leaders. The workings of government, the common laws, the economic and social problems of the country are studied, as well as practical farm accounts, arithmetic, and the college preparatory subjects of algebra and geometry.

Badge of membership: Gray matter.