GRATEFUL

Milton Warner to waiter who brings in order at his request: "I thank you from the bottom of my feet, downwards."

SPRUNG'S IDEAL

She must be beautiful
As rich as Croesus,
Able and willing
To support both of us.

HUMOROUS VERSE AND REMARKS

We have a young student called Swede,
He has such a wonderful creed,
When he's got work,
He works like a Turk,
But when he hasn't, he doesn't.

After all the work we have done here
all we get is a piece of sheepskin.

It's all very well to be wise
But it's a whole lot better to be wiser.

John Swiers has a hobby horse,
He rides it early and late,
Of course you know without discourse
His hobby was debate.

Three years ago, I thot I knew a lot,
But now I must confess,
The more I knew, I knew, I knew,
I know I knew the less.
