

Lincoln Society

Top Row—Gibbons, Knutson, Anderson, Ness, Logan, Emerson, Borgan, Tammy, Swedin.
Middle Row—Stephens, Aakre, Erikson, Fraser, Jennings, Peterson, Lee, Lindahl, Smith, Meldahl.
Bottom Row—Nakken, Sather, Marmorine, Negaard, Johnson, Landby, Gronner, Halvorson, Mansfield.

Since its organization in 1914 this society has made rapid strides, and numbers among its members some of the ablest speakers in the school. Under the leadership of A. H. Larson and R. H. Mueller, this society has been a strong contender for debating honors. Its team won the silver trophy in 1918.

Agrarian Society

Top Row—Synnes, Anderson, Bursheim, Hoper, Patenaude, McCrum, Wardberg.
Middle Row—Nornes, Homme, Nelson, Jenson, Stageberg, Welte, Kappes.
Bottom Row—Lincoln, Hanson, Walters, Peterson, Reske, Friday, Nelson, Groves.

The Agrarian is the youngest of the men's societies. It was organized in 1919, under the leadership of J. P. Bengtson and W. V. Gousseff, to meet the need for a society in which purely agricultural affairs might be discussed. In each of the two years of its existence, it has made a fine showing in the inter-society debate, and this year its team appeared in the final contest.