

Feb. 11—The Alumni Banquet was held at the Crookston Association Hall. The principal speaker was President Coffman. After the address at the Armory the alumni dance was held.

Mar. 18—The annual field meet is one of the greatest events of the school year. The seniors were successful in carrying off first honors.

Mar. 19—Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Mueller, the Senior Class Advisors, entertained the class at Senior Hall. Many games were played which were highly enjoyed by all, after which refreshments were served.

March 20—The senior class and faculty were entertained by Superintendent and Mrs. Selvig at their home. This is an annual event always looked forward to. A delightful evening was spent.

March 24—The last event of the year was the School and Alumni dinner featured by several talks, music and the announcements of honors and awards. The school spirit in evidence was one characteristic that made the event thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Junior-Senior Banquet

The annual banquet given by the junior class to the seniors and faculty, took place Monday evening, March 7, in the new dining hall. The affair was under the direction of the junior class advisors, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Smith, assisted by Miss Ward. The dining room was beautifully decorated in a tasteful and well planned color scheme, the junior colors, old rose and steel gray, predominating.

"All the world's a stage, in which men and women are but players," was the central theme of the program. Clifford Lee, president of the class, was toastmaster. He likened life at the Northwest School to a drama. John Landby described the school campus as our stage, and Marie Larson, in behalf of the senior class, spoke upon the subject of the "Stars." The "Understudy" was represented by Neva Gibbons, the "Scene Shifters" by Charles Smith. Miss Kneeshaw, of the faculty, proved an excellent "prima donna," and rendered several beautiful vocal solos.

The "Directors" of the drama formed the theme of Mr. Mueller's able address, followed by Superintendent Selvig, who spoke of the great "Playwright" of the universe who directs the destinies of all.

Miss Nolan, of the faculty, delighted the company by several saxophone selections. The music of Bandmaster Smith's special orchestra from Crookston, added to the general harmony of the occasion.
