Only two times did Crookston seriously threaten the Aggie goal while Crookston was forced to kick from behind its goal line three times. The ball was in Crookston territory the greater part of the time.

While Crookston was going to punt from behind the goal line, a bad pass resulted in a safety for the Aggies.

EAST GRAND FORKS 14, AGGIE 0, AT EAST GRAND FORKS

The Northwest Aggies played good ball throughout the game, making more downs than Grand Forks. A fumble by Crookston resulted in a touchdown for Grand Forks. Another time Crookston was penalized which brought Grand Forks within easy scoring distance. This was the first and only defeat for the Aggies during the season. It was a hard fought game, but was lost on the bad breaks.

THIEF RIVER FALLS 0, AGGIES 38, ON THE CAMPUS

This game proved to be another easy victory for the Aggies. The locals had little difficulty in scoring on the visitors and repeatedly broke away for long gains through the line and around the ends. Both teams used forward passes, but luck again favored the Aggies and made their passes count. The Aggies' goal was not seriously threatened during the whole game.

This ended the most successful foot ball season in the history of the Northwest School.

Hallowe'en

THE thirty-first day of October was a well observed day at the Northwest School. A football game was played in the afternoon and a most unusual party took place in the evening. It is evident that a sight more impressive than the torch brigade that circled about the campus that evening, would have been impossible. All having returned to the gymnasium, fortunes were told. This was followed by a spooky ghost-walk through haunted places. The most spectacular event of all was a dance by a hideous group of six-legged, sightless beings which held the platform for not a few minutes. Shivers still creep down the spines of some when thoughts go back to Bluebeard and his murdered wives, who, shrieking and bruised, were dragged onto the stage. To intensify these frightful experiences, several weird songs were sung by a trio of ghosts. At the close of these horrors, the spectators were so weak that a good sustaining lunch had to be served in order to bring each back to normal condition.

Should we live to be a thousand years old we would still have a creepy feeling when we think of that evening of horrors.
