

School Alphabet

A is for Anderson, studious and wise.
B is for Bergh, with those dreamy brown eyes.
C is for Chester, whom Myrtle has landed.
D is for Davids, who dates are demanded.
E is for Eilertson, who likes every lass.
F is for Forsness, she surely will pass.
G is for Groves, who never is lonely.
H is for Hoper, whose dates are Bob's only.
I is for "I's," familiar to students.
J is for "Jim," philosopher so prudent.
K is for Krogstad, an all around fellow.
L is for Lindahl, whose smiles are so mellow.
M is for Miller, advanced football star.
N is for Neske, he debates near and far.
O is for Ofstedahl, who likes the girls.
P is for Parks, who's reliable as gravity.
Q is for Quizzes, that come unannounced.
R is for Ross, whose wisdom's pronounced.
S is for Strommer, who is sometimes called "Dollie."
T is for Thompson, she's always quite jolly.
U is for "U" whoever "U" are.
V is for Vigstol, whose wit's like a star.
W is for Woods, who likes a good time.
X is for "X" which never would rhyme.
Y is for Ystness, a good football man.
Z is for Zurn, who does all she can.
There are no more letters to add to this rhyme.
The Chinese alphabet shall be used next time.

Some say that 13 is an unlucky number, but some of the girls in Robertson Hall are inclined to believe that 8 is more so, since Miss Schenck found eight girls sleeping in two beds in one room.

Einar Eilertson now has two specialties in serving the ladies: Specialty No. 1 — Sunday night boss of Robertson Hall; Specialty No. 2 — Week day waiter on Margaret Woods in Sociology class.

WANTED

A marriage license at a reduction — Ralph Erickson.
A couple of nuts for a Smith typewriter — Miss Sherwood.
A few funeral records for our victrola — Typewriting Class.
A better nickname — Ella Short.
A noiseless winder for my Ingersoll — Mr. LaVoi.
More trade — Loven Tonsorial Parlors.
At least a ton of salt to keep the Freshmen through the summer.