

WALTER TURGEON

playing his last year, came late in the season. He played substitute guard.

OLAF STENBORG

playing right guard, could be relied upon to open up holes in the opposing line for gains. He was also a good defensive player. This was Olaf's first year of football.

RICHARD AAKRE

playing right tackle, was the strongest man in the line. Few gains were ever made through him and he was particularly good in breaking through interference. This was Dick's last year.

EINAR LOVEN

played his last year in the left-end position. Einar was an accurate and hard tackler. He was a good fighter and gains around his end seldom happened.

WALTER LUCHAU

playing his last year, was a dependable, hard-working left guard. Few gains were ever made through him.

CARL WIDSETH

alternating in the back-field broke into the game late in the season. It was his first year of football and his showing this year, especially in the East Grand Forks game, makes him a splendid prospect for next year. Carl is both heavy and fast, two attributes hard to beat.
