

Faculty

D. H. LaVOI, B.S.A., Univ. of Minn. Ath. Coach, Preceptor. Fosston, Minn.
Subjects: Types and Breeds, Sociology, Rural Econ., Gym., Home Project.

O. M. KISER, B.S.A., Kansas State Agri. College. Animal Husbandman.
Subjects: Livestock Management, Herd Management, Dairying, Stock Judging and Feeding.

A. M. PILKEY, Manitoba Agri. College. Poultry Husbandman.
Subject: Poultry Husbandry.

The Northwest School maintains splendid herds and flocks which give the students ample opportunities to study ideal livestock types. Courses offered in this department are Types and Breeds, Judging, Herd Management, Dairying, Feeding, Animal Breeding, Meats, and Livestock Sanitation.

Each year some phase of experimental work is done. This work enables the department to have first hand information on feeding and management of livestock.

The Poultry department continues to increase in the amount of service given. During the past year 18,000 eggs were incubated. In this period 7,000 hatching eggs, 8,000 baby chicks, 250 yearling hens, 200 pullets, and 350 cockerels were sold throughout the valley.

