

The Red River Aggie

Hunt — Last week I had a fall which rendered me unconscious for several hours.

Trandem — Really! Where did you fall!

Hunt — I fell asleep in farm
management class.

Alice E. — Is that a real diamond
that you have in your tie pin?

Geo. B. — Gosh, I hope so. I paid half a dollar for it!

Melvin H. — Sweets to the sweet.

Sophie B. — Oh, thank you, may
I pass you the nuts?

Fond Parent — How dare you come home like this in the middle of the term! And how dare you have the nerve to say you didn't like your school! Don't you know that it has turned out some of the most brilliant
men in the country?

Aase — Yes, dad, that's why they turned me out.

EVER NOTICE THIS?

How doth the Crookston Laundry
Search out the weakest joints,
And always tear the buttons off
At most strategic points.

FOOLING 'EM

His sister called him Willie,
His mother called him Will,
But when he went to College
To Dad 'twas Bill, Bill, Bill.

A fool can ask more questions than a wise man can answer. That's why so many of us fail in examinations.

Mr. Dunham in chemistry class — Didn't I tell you to notice when the solution boiled over?

Berggren — I did. It was a quarter past one.

A woodpecker sat
On a freshman's head
And started in to drill.
He worked away
For half a day
And then he broke his bill.

Mary — "And did he actually dare
to steal a kiss from you."

Agnes — "Yes, but I made him
put it right back."

"I see you have a new girl," Ecklund. "Who is she?"

Ecklund — "That's not a new one.
That's just the old one repainted."

Ole S. — "I hear that sheep are the most stupid animals in the world."

Alice B. — "Yes, my lamb, they are."

One day in cooking class the percolator fell over and strained its coffee.

Ostlie — Do you like figs?

Hazel — No, but I'm very fond of dates.

Mr. Kiser and Mr. LaVoi, visiting in the country during vacation.

D. H. L. — Your son has very fine manners. He opened the gate for us.

Farmer — That's nothing. He does that for the cows every day.

Viola Buringsrud — What dreadful language your parrot uses.

Mrs. Hillmon — Yes, my husband bought the bird in town and brought it home in his car. And I understand he had three blowouts and engine trouble on the way.
