

Foreword

In accordance with custom, the Class of 1930 has issued this book, known as the Red River Aggie, the staff of which is indebted to the student organizations and faculty for assistance with the publication. It has been the aim of this Senior Class to give an account of activities to present the Northwest School of Agriculture as it really is, so that a review of these pages may recall to mind the intellectual, athletic and social events of the school year.