

Class Advisers

The true satisfaction of life comes not from the accumulation of wealth or honors won, but from the many genuine friendships that are made from day to day. Such friends are ever ready to help and cheer us on to greater achievements or to sympathize with us in times of sorrow and defeat.

It is well for us to remember that real friendships do not depreciate during times of depression, nor do they appreciate unduly during periods of prosperity; rather, they appreciate steadily with the passage of time.

As the years pass by, we will carry the memory of the many pleasant personal contacts we have had with the members of the Class of 1932. We hope that these candles of friendship that shine so brightly at the moment may continue to light life's pathway for each and every member of our class.

It has been a real pleasure to work with you and we will watch your future progress with keen interest and high expectations.

Very sincerely yours,

Mrs. Isabel Dyer Dowell
