

Assistant Coach E. L. Ocock

E. L. Ocock, assistant coach during the past three years, has been an important factor in developing material for the championship teams.

He has devoted his time to training the second team in both football and basketball. This has made it possible for a large number of students to take advantage of the physical training offered by the Northwest School. It is from the second team that material is developed for the inter-school teams.

Mr. Ocock has won a warm place for himself in the hearts of the faculty and student body.

Letter Men

Erling Strand Twin Valley

Erling's contribution to the success of the team was his consistent play on the line. His teammates could always find a hole a "mile wide" for the backfield to charge through. With one more year of play Aggie rooters are looking forward to a continuation of his excellent play.

Orin Refling Fertile

Playing his first year on the team "Ref" was hampered somewhat by an injury received in mid-season. However, his performances under fire showed that he will be a big factor in the 1932 campaign.

Alfred Torkelson Stephen

"Tork" contributed his share by playing a fine game at one of the tackle posts. The 1931 campaign was his first in an Aggie uniform and he is expected to be a bulwark on the line in the next campaign.

Walter Dorseth Twin Valley

In his first season in football, Dorseth displayed excellent ability in breaking up the opposition's attempts at line plays. That he will be one of the mainstays in another campaign is evidenced by his fine performances this year.

Arnold Strand Twin Valley

"Fat" was one of the most important cogs on the championship team. His brilliant performance of the 1930 season was repeated during the last campaign when he was all over the field smearing the enemy's attempts at scoring. With one more year of play "Fat" is expected to keep up his good work.

Allan Hoff Dalton

As a reserve center, Allan got his chance in the 1931 campaign, and proved invaluable during the season. He was an important factor in the team's success.

Donald Anderson Perley

"Don" was another new addition to the school this year and immediately set out to win a position at tackle, where he played a strong game. He did his share in bringing the championship to the Northwest School.

Mervin J. Hagen Underwood

"Tango" was given his big chance in the Morris game when he took Captain Avery's place at quarterback. His performance in this encounter brought to light an excellent, cool, heady quarterback. This was "Tango's" second year on the team and with two seasons' experience he should be a vital factor in next season's games.

Kermit Greenley Viking

"Stub" played his first season in an Aggie uniform and the power he displayed stamps him as one of the most important factors in the 1932 campaign. Displaying speed, drive and level-headedness, "Stub" thrilled Aggie rooters with his performances.
