

Red River Aggie

REGISTRATION. October 1, the campus wakes up. Activity in the library. Your cards, please? Name? Age? Class? Home-sick freshmen, hilarious upper classmen, rejuvenated faculty, buzzing dormitories, open trunks, tears and goodbyes, greetings, introductions, new roommates.

RENTS. See Miss Weinberger's fur coat.

ROCK GARDEN. A lovely spot in summer, favorite haunt for evening strolls in autumn, huge black drift in winter.

ROOM CLEANING. A duty of roommates. Most popular time—Sunday morning. Accompanied by furniture moving. Faculty in rooms beneath complain they can't sleep.

SCHOOL PARTIES. Sisters to the dances. Held in cafeteria. Students try to learn four hundred rules in one night. "Three in a boat," "Jolly is the miller," and "Keno", but best of all,—Lunch! Hot dogs, bismarks, grape dinner! A program helps digest it.

SENIOR DAY. Seniors cast aside their dignity for a day. Grease paint and old clothes achieve great changes. Several lovely (?) new girls appear.

SENIOR DRESSES. Always white, sweet. On graduation night they bring forth tears.

SENIOR THESES. A sample of our work we leave behind.

SIGNING OUT. See Nuisances, See Forgetting. See Miss Bede or Mr. Anderson.

SOCIAL HOUR. Time, six-thirty to seven-thirty every Tuesday night for all except: (1) below-graders, (2) athletes, (3) rehearsers. Attendance, select. Music, assorted.

STUDY ROOM. Hill building. General clearing house for dates, lessons to be copied from some one who has them, and exchange of campus gossip.

SUMMER CALLS. Mr. Mlinar, Mr. Christgau, or Mr. Clark drop in about dinner time. It's mighty good to hear all about the campus.

SUNDAY NIGHT LUNCH BOXES. Three sandwiches, an orange, a cup cake, and sometimes a piece of candy! Consumed between two and four o'clock Sunday afternoon.

TAXIS. Sunday afternoon transportation. Two bits for two, when packed in like sardines, a nickel apiece.

TENNIS. See WIGHT and CHRISTGAU.

THANKSGIVING DAY. Trips down town for table decorations. A long, hungry forenoon. Everyone dressed in his best. Tables show pilgrim villages and horns of plenty. A turkey on every table, boys learn to carve. Too full of dinner. A program helps digest it. Boxes from home help at night.

TURTLENECKS. A convenience for late risers. Stripes favored, washing saved. Adopted by both boys and girls.

UNDERWEIGHTS. The "slimmies" and the "skinnies" have a table together in the dining hall and have to drink milk. Some 313 pounds have been added to campus livestock.

VACATION. A lapse of time between the last day of school and registration. No bells, no campuses, no study hours.

WALKING. Exercise around campus on pleasant Sundays, means of getting to town without bus fare, a date on other nights than Saturdays, and Sundays. Open to students and faculty.
