

4-H CLUB

O. Haugen, R. Cummings, M. Chilson, A. Lippert, J. Stanko, O. Dahlen, A. Kramer, E. Engelstad, O. Knutson, P. Borgie, E. Newhouse, H. Sanden, L. Hansen, Mr. Pflughoeft, B. Bergeson, C. Larson, W. Austin, R. Parnow, M. Nelson, J. Hirst, H. Pester, M. Wolden, M. Hanson, L. Lerud, M. Youmans, P. Hansen, B. McVeety, H. Krogstad, S. Anderson, E. Carlson, M. Lerud, L. Sargent, M. Rybak, I. Holst, O. Steen, R. Lerud.

Monday night. Supper time. Miss Lippett stops at her place long enough to ring her little bell. Mr. Mlinar rises to the occasion. He announces—among other things, such as free swimming for boys, Jr.-Sr. girls basketball scramble, or even Aggie Board meeting—that the 4-H club will meet in the auditorium at six-thirty.

The 4-H clubbers—head, heart, hands and health—are the campus organization of those who are members in their own communities. They represent every county in this part of the state.

The main motive of the organization here is to provide members with new ideas, methods and information for conducting 4-H clubs in their communities. A leadership class is conducted throughout the year.

The campus club entertains on two evenings the 4-H club exhibitors who come to the Red River Valley Winter Shows. On the first evening a program of plays and stunts is presented in the school auditorium. The second evening is spent as an informal party of games and recreation.

During the summer the members work out various projects in leadership, clothing, livestock and gardens. These encourage better methods of farming and homemaking, and furnish wholesome social entertainment for the rural young people.

Mr. H. A. Pflughoeft, District Leader of 4-H clubs, directs the campus organization. Lester Lerud is president; Margaret Lerud, vice president; Helen Krogstad, secretary and treasurer; Morris Englestad, cheer leader, and Irene Holst, song leader. The motto of the club is "To make the best better."

10
5