NOEL HANSEN
Center and Tackle

Opponents soon found out they were running up against a stone wall, if they endeavored to plunge through Noel's territory. With two years left to play we can look forward to some spectacular work by Noel.

CLARENCE WECKWERTH
Tackle and Fullback

Known for his powerful drive he was a terror to his opponents. When he charged he opened up a hole for the whole team to follow through and stopped the enemy's play before it was well started. "Weck" ended the season and his football career at the N. W. S. A. in the fullback position.

STANLEY ALSETH
End

Stan distinguished himself on the gridiron by his brilliant catching of forward passes and his ability to intercept short passes. "Stan" has one year left to play.

PHILLIP LeMASURIERE
Fullback and Halfback

Phil's ability to get the touchdowns and turn defeat into victory was well recognized by all Aggie rooters. His return to the Aggie gridiron this year was hailed with much enthusiasm by the entire squad.

LEWELLYN REESE
Captain, Halfback

"Lew" handled his team like a general and his fighting spirit and ready good nature were an inspiration to his mates at all times. He was considered the fastest man on the team and starred in the Morris game. Voted the most valuable man on the team he was awarded the Ruettell Sweater at the close of the season.

RALPH SHELDON
Captain-elect, Halfback

Due to a knee injury, "Shotgun" did not receive much chance to demonstrate his ability as a hard-hitting, slippery, fighting Aggie. However, his teammates still recognized in him all the necessary requirements for captain of the 1934 season.

RICHARD JOHANSEN
End

"Rick" well displayed his talent and ability in catching and intercepting passes as well as in being a good blocker. This was Rick's first year but with one year left to play we are expecting big things.

ARNE NELSON
Tackle, Center

Playing his first year on the team, Arne well demonstrated what a cool sense of judgment and a knowledge of football can do for one.
