

Senior Class History

With sincere eagerness to obtain an education we, the Class of 1935, were enrolled at The Northwest School of Agriculture, October 3, 1932. We were aware of the fact that we were beginning school in a time of a world-wide depression, in a time when great sacrifices were required of our parents to send us here. Therefore, every member of the class of 1935 took it upon himself to make the most of his opportunities.

For our Faculty Advisers we chose Miss Fae Hughbanks and Mr. Elwyn Ocock. Mr. Ocock having interests elsewhere remained with us but one year. As Freshmen we were well represented in all extra-curricular activities.

As Juniors we returned to the campus with grim determination to carry on what we felt we had so well begun. Miss Lydia Dahlen was chosen as Class Adviser to succeed Mr. Elwyn Ocock who efficiently served us while we were Freshmen. During this, our Junior year, we made great improvements both in our Class Room work and extra-curricular activities, having had more members represented on the honor roll with higher scholastic standings than any other class at that time. We took a prominent part in all school activities, such as athletics, debate, dramatics and class events. Though we not always won first place, we played the game squarely and tried to show the best of sportsmanship. Perhaps the most interesting event to us during this year was the Junior-Senior banquet. This took the form of a "Flight Dinner," followed by dancing at the "Air Port" in the gymnasium. At the close of our Junior year there was in the hearts of every one of us an earnest desire to return the following year as Seniors and to maintain the high standards of the other classes who have gone before us.

So on October 1, 1934, we, as Seniors, returned to take our final step in the vision of our goal. We have missed some of our former classmates but are glad to welcome the new ones. We have found this to be a very busy but most interesting year full of events that will linger with us as splendid memories all the rest of our days. Throughout this year the Aggie Board has been laboring hard in an effort to produce an Aggie which will serve as evidence for what has been accomplished by our class. Our Senior Class Play, "Smilin' Through," directed by Miss Dorothy Smith, given on February 26, proved to be a very successful event.

The wonderful cooperation which has existed between our class members have made it a most happy and progressive year. From our three years of attendance here at the Northwest School we have gleaned much inspiration.

To our Class Advisers, Miss Fae Hughbanks and Miss Lydia Dahlen, we are deeply indebted. Through their untiring efforts we have been able to accomplish real things. They have been our guiding hand. Without their constant encouragement our ambitions here might never have been accomplished.

We hope our readers won't consider us of too boastful a nature when we say we feel proud of our athletes, debaters and every member of the class of '35, for at least we have tried to make our class one of the best Senior classes to be graduated from the Northwest School.

We enter the ranks of the Alumni with full realization of what this school has done for us and we shall always be loyal to its trust.
