During the past six months we have labored to produce an Aggie that would be a true representation of our progress while attending this institution. Despite the hard work required, we consider it an honor to be entrusted with the responsibility of publishing this book. Although we may receive the credit for this publication, we could never have succeeded without assistance, and we want to take this opportunity to express our deepest gratitude to our Advisers, Mr. and Mrs. Christgau, and the other members of the staff and student body for their valuable suggestions and assistance.
