Ruth Lerud has been leading cheers for three years. She was elected Pepster King this year and is well worthy of the title. When Ruth leads a yell the team seems to pick up new energy.

Fred Cook started leading yells this year and has been doing well. Fred has been out for various other activities but he always manages to get in a few yells for the team.

Virginia Watt has helped lead the cheering section for three years. Virginia got her honorary emblem in 1936. She has ways of leading cheers that bring great results.

Werner Weindorf has his honorary emblem and has led the gang in cheering for three years. Werner goes about leading a yell as though it were an every day task.

Myrtle Hanson has been leading cheers for nearly two years. Myrtle gets her honorary emblem this spring. Boy, she has certainly earned it. She is one of those people that are natural-born leaders.

Daniel Wavra just got into the cheering business this year, but he already handles himself like an old veteran. Danny can lead yells like nobody's business, but he makes it everybody's.

Delores Driscoll has had experience in leading yells for her local 4-H club and does she ever make use of it. She's all there when it comes to leading yells.

Arden Hanson can lead a yell as well as any of the other pepsters. "Red" isn't green, as freshmen are supposed to be, when it comes to leading. He has the hang of it already.
