ing, of the Red River Valley Dairyman's Association and the Red River Livestock Breeders' Association banquet. The evening program consisted of a Band Concert and special music by members of the Northwest School Music faculty, Miss Grace Warne, Miss Lois Lohn and Miss Marion Nelson. The main event on the program was an address on "War Versus Agriculture," by Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota.

Judging contests, 4-H demonstration and women's meetings were the events on Thursday morning. The sale of purebred livestock, 4-H Club Leaders' Conference and Poultry Discussions were events for the men on Thursday afternoon. Professor Alderman of the University of Minnesota and Miss Harriet Goldstein, home economics authority, delivered interesting talks to the women. The Boys' Glee Club of the Northwest School sang several songs for the entertainment of those present.

Thursday evening the program opened with a concert by the Crookston High School Orchestra. A piano solo and vocal solos by Miss Marian Nelson and Miss Katherine Hennig, respectively, were enjoyed by all. The Northwest School feels fortunate in having these two as members of its faculty. Interesting talks by Dr. and Mrs. Jean F. Piccard on their scientific exploration of the stratosphere were illustrated by slides and moving pictures.

Friday, the last day of the Winter Shows Week, began with the Red River Valley Rural School Spelling Contest. Other events of the day were the 4-H Club demonstrations, while Rural Electrification seemed to be the subject at both the men's and women's meetings. Showmanship contests took place in the afternoon. The "Parade of Brides" was the feature of the day at the women's meetings. Friday evening the sixteenth annual Song Festival of the Northwestern Singers Association brought to a close one of the most successful of the twenty seven annual Winter Shows.
