

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET - 1938

March! What glorious events come in this month, and among them the annual Junior-Senior Banquet. The Prom of 1938 differed in theme from any other that has ever been presented. The entire scheme represented an old-fashioned garden.

The doors were opened, revealing a brilliantly lighted dining room. The room was attractively decorated with green and white streamers. The guests marched into the dining room to the music of the school orchestra.

The tables were arranged in a large circle. A miniature flower garden was placed on the center table. A bounteous meal was served by waiters and waitresses dressed as Overall Jims and Sunbonnet Sues.

The theme of the program centered around the family album. The pages were turned revealing pictures of people in Grandmother's day. As each page was turned, a character, dressed as a typical person of that day, stepped onto a stage in front of a large screen, while a group backstage sang songs suitable for the particular picture.

As we entered the gymnasium, we beheld flowers and streamers in a variety of realistic colors and hues which were suspended from the ceiling. A sky-like appearance was achieved in the ceiling decorations by the use of shaded hues of blue, the colors ranging from brilliant blue to shades less dense in hue.

The entire wall around the hall was decorated with a rock wall of white on a brown background. These sketches were so arranged as to give the effect of an old fashioned garden.

We were impressed by the beauty of our surroundings as we marched around the garden. As we left this old-fashioned garden we retained vivid memories of days gone by.
