

The bell rings . . . students rush madly to and from classes . . . up and down the stairs . . . the steady clicking indicates the typing class is hard at work . . . now and then a strange and secret formula compounded in Chemistry lab . . . English classes . . . the classics, grammar, themes . . . much fear and trembling in Saturday's speech classes until dismissal . . . varieties of grains identified in Crops lab . . . Algebra and Geometry explained to bewildered upper classmen . . . the place where we learn what we don't know . . . HILL BUILDING.