

Greetings to the Class of 1939

from Superintendent McCall

YOU are about to step into a field of new endeavor where much of the responsibility for future action will rest upon your shoulders. It is to be hoped that your contact with the faculty and students at the Northwest School has so broadened your outlook on life that you can meet its problems with confidence.

It is quite impossible to be fully prepared to meet all of life's problems, however, if you maintain your student attitude in the search for truth, and apply yourself religiously to that search, a great degree of satisfaction will be achieved.

The hope of democracy and the future progress of our country is assured when truth and right determine our behavior.
