“Lads of the Field and Flock”

The Livestock Judging Squad is selected from the Judging Class which begins in the fall quarter. The class meets three times each week and class instruction is given by Mr. O. M. Kiser in the judging of all types and breeds of livestock. At the opening of the winter quarter the highest and the most interested students are selected for the school squad and intensive practices are held in preparation for the sub-collegiate contests held annually at the Red River Valley Winter Shows.

Shortly after the opening of the winter quarter the annual inter-class livestock judging contest is held and a silver trophy is awarded to the class finishing first in this contest.

The personnel of the Livestock Judging Squad is:

Robert Grenier
Norris Hovland
Irwin Johnson

Earl Krogstad
Roy Lerud
Ervin Risbrudt

Ernest Rydeen
Clarence Sargent
Harold Utech

The Northwest School team which was entered in the Red River Valley Winter Shows consisted of the following students: Roy Lerud, Ernest Rydeen, Harold Utech. The school team finished second in competition with other schools. Harold Utech was high man in the entire contest in judging swine. Roy Lerud was high man in the entire contest in dairy judging. The Northwest School team took first place and a silver trophy in dairy judging.

To Mr. O. M. Kiser, coach of the squad, goes the credit for the fine record made by the school teams in these inter-school contests. His zeal and enthusiasm for this work has been a great encouragement to all squad members.
