

PARENTS' DAY PLAY

Parents' Day is a tradition of long standing at the Northwest School. Held during the first week in November the day annually draws hundreds of parents to the Northwest School campus. More than seven hundred fathers and mothers of students currently enrolled at the school were present for the 1939 Parents' Day.

Included in the day's program was a delightful one act play titled "Good Night, Please." The production afforded the visitors many hearty laughs.

Director Wegener discusses informally with cast regarding parts of the play.

"Now this bit of action requires"...and Wegener drives home his point.

Wake up, Clarence, it's class time...oops, we forgot you're in the play.

"Come on, now, let me alone... I ain't got no 8:15 class... shucks now I forgot this was the play."
