

ARMISTICE DAY

"In Flanders Fields"

While Europe is again engaged in war America remembers the first World War and solemnly observed Armistice Day on November 11.

The Northwest School observed the day in traditional manner with an all-school assembly at which time we honor those who lost their lives in the first conflict. The assembly speaker, Attorney Harry Sylvestre of Crookston, paid tribute to those who lost their lives and also counseled peace and better understanding for all mankind. The American Legion Post of Crookston led the traditional march to the Soldiers' Memorial where Louise Krogstad placed a wreath on the monument. Eight Northwest School students lost their lives in the World War and a total of one hundred sixty students enlisted.

The Armistice Day observance is one of the most impressive occasions of the school year.

Pictures: (top to bottom)

All students take part in the march to the Soldiers' Monument.

Louise Krogstad, president of the Senior Class, pays tribute to the war dead.

All stand in one minute silent prayer in memory of the soldier dead.

"Taps" and attention.

Speaker Harry Sylvestre whose Armistice Day discussion is one of the highlights of the year.

