

HONORS BANQUET

"Jolly Comrades"

As a climax to the inter-school activities of the year the Honors Banquet is held in March at which time members of the extra-curricular squads are given recognition for their work in representing the school.

Held in the Aggie Inn, the banquet is one of the highlights of the year. Music, pep talks, and anecdotes enliven the affair.

The program for the evening and the decorations are planned and worked out by various members of the squads who have previously earned the coveted "A."

Eligible to attend the banquet are members of the football, basketball, cross country, hockey, swimming, wrestling, crops judging, livestock judging, debate, and pepster squads.

Toastmaster at the 1939 Honors Banquet was Professor A. M. Foker, chairman of the athletic committee. The chief speaker was Superintendent T. M. McCall. Captains, representing the different activities, who expressed appreciation of the squad for the invitation to the banquet were: Silas Strand (football); James Lenes (basketball); Lloyd Lund (hockey); Ledyard Burhans (swimming); Wayne Lantz (wrestling); Oray Tangen (crops judging); Wilson Radway (livestock judging); Byron Hess (debate); Myrtle Hanson (pepsters).

Pictures: (top to bottom)

Coach E. R. Clark of the crops judging team comments on the season for the crops judges.

Miss Kingston extends congratulations to all inter-school squads.

Toastmaser Foker sends the listeners into gales of laughter.

Coach O. M. Kiser of the livestock judging team tells anecdotes on his squad members.

