

The SIOUX...

Long before the white man came to the "Thirteen Towns" the Sioux Indians roamed over the rugged wilderness that the early homesteaders have now developed into a splendid farm community. Off and on, we still find Indian relics, telling of a race whose existence and customs are gradually fading into the dim past.

In tribute to this picturesque tribe of Ancient Americans we named our business Sioux Oil Company. We have a few oddities and relics on display at our office beside the Sioux Indian Statue on Highway No. 59 at Winger, Minnesota, such as:

Full size mounted deer	Mastodon tooth (prehistoric)
Full size mounted silver fox	Inlaid table (7,000 pieces)
Sioux war-dance sword	Kubestol (hand carved)
Indian stone axes	Flintlock firearm
Indian tanning stones	Numerous items

Stop in for a visit whenever you are in the neighborhood.

We are distributors of the Socony-Vacuum products—Mobilgas and Mobiloil
