

LIVESTOCK JUDGING SQUAD

Standing (left to right): R. Grenier, I. Johnson, I. Magnusson, H. Heitman, D. Barry. Seated: L. Clow, P. Pederson, Mr. O. M. Kiser, C. Sargent, H. Hoff.

Do you know the important points to be considered in the judging of livestock? If not you should join the Livestock Judging squad which meets thrice weekly. Professor O. M. Kiser, head of the livestock department, is coach of the Northwest Aggies squad. Agricultural school teams from Minnesota, North Dakota, and South Dakota meet in the annual Winter Shows held at Crookston. In the 1941 contest the Northwest School team finished third. The contest includes judging of sheep, hogs, beef cattle, dairy cattle, and horses. Contestants are required to not only place stock but to give reasons for placing. Competition for places on the team is keen. Students who represent the Northwest School in the contest are awarded gold medals.

PERSONNEL

Dale Barry
Lyle Clow
Robert Grenier

Howard Heitman (medal)
Henry Hoff
Irwin Johnson

Iden Magnusson (medal)
Palmer Pederson
Clarence Sargent (medal)

"Look out Heitman, horsey bites."

"Is it a good cow, Howard?"