

AGGIE ROUSER

PICTURES (top left): Editorial Staff—LeRoy Hanson, associate editor; Donald Nelson (seated) editor-in-chief; Ed McMillan, associate editor; Wilbur Hallstrom, associate editor; Opal Mykleby (seated) associate editor. (top right) Sports department—Telfred Slettvedt, Frank Phillips, Margaret Ristad, Wayne Gibbons, Camilla Ecklund, Esther Norum. (lower left) Cartoonist and Humor—Patricia Johnson, Verner Nelson. (lower right) Secretaries—LaVonne Swenson, Beverly McKibbin, Gladys Vesledahl.

The Aggie Rouser, a weekly publication, sponsored by the Advanced class in Journalism, makes its appearance each Tuesday. There is always a mad rush for copies as distribution takes place in each of the dormitories. "Boy, oh boy, did you read "that!!" "What do they say about . . . ?" "Gimme that last page." "Where's my copy?" "Hey, who wrote that?" "Where did they find that out?"—these are a few of excited comments made by the reading public as page after page is devoured.

To Donald Nelson, student editor-in-chief, goes much of the credit for the publication.

Under Miss Manning's supervision the class in Journalism not only prepares the weekly publication but the group consider Journalistic practices on large daily papers and the weekly county papers.

The Aggie Rouser is an important part of Northwest School life.

"The Rouser is out today—get your copy at once"