

WINTER SHOWS

S P E A K E R S

PICTURES: (top left): J. H. Lemmon, president of National Wool Marketing Corporation, who addressed Wool Growers on Wednesday, February 5. (top middle) Mrs. W. A. Lee, dramatic reader, who appeared on programs at the women's meetings. (top right) Alice Linn, University of Minnesota clothing specialist. (center) Julian Bryan, author and lecturer, whose topic was "Will the Latin American Countries Go Nazi or Go With the United States?" (center right) Margaret Minge Perret, concert pianist and composer, who delighted the women's audience with her musical program and her discussion of Germany, where she live for several years. (bottom left) R. S. Mackintosh, secretary of Minnesota Horticultural Society, who appeared on the Women's program on Thursday, February 6. (bottom middle) Dr. W. S. Carlson, explorer and author, whose illustrated lecture "Exploring in Greenland" was one of the highlights of the afternoon programs. (bottom right) Ernest K. Lindley, Washington correspondent and widely-syndicated columnist on political affairs, was the chief speaker on the Wednesday evening program on the topic "America's Place In the World."

The thirty-first annual Northwest School Farmer's Week and Women's Meetings was held February 3-7, 1941 in the city of Crookston. Northwest School students took an active part in the work of the week.