BOYS' CLASS BASKETBALL

As in the girls' division, twelve basketball games are played in the inter-class tournament for boys. Each class team meets the other class teams twice during the season. To be eligible to participate in these games the players must be above grade in all subjects during the entire week in which the game is scheduled. These games afford the entire student body an opportunity to participate.

At the end of the playing season, a silver trophy is awarded to the team finishing in first place on a basis of games won and lost. Members of the first place team are then awarded class numerals at the Awards Assembly which is the final all-school assembly prior to graduation.

Competition between the teams is very keen.

The boys' class basketball teams are a means of prospective players and members of the school team obtaining necessary experience for inter-school competition.
