

SENIOR CLASS ADVISERS

MR. BAKKEGARD

MISS MANNING

TO THE CLASS OF 1942

For the past three years it has been a real pleasure to work with you. I shall watch your future progress with as much interest and expectation as I have watched your growth from beginning Freshmen to graduating Seniors. I am sure that the many activities of your Senior year, which you have so well recorded in this "Aggie," will long be remembered by each of you. Now that you are about to graduate, you must realize that you are completing your work during one of the most critical times in American history. It will be up to you to find your place in a rapidly changing society. Several of the young men who were with us as freshmen are already in the armed forces of our country. All of us will be expected to make certain sacrifices for the ideals which we as democratic people cherish, and I trust that the guidance and training that you have received here at the Northwest School will help you to serve your country in the best possible manner.

Sincerely,

Benjamin M. Bakkegard

Our experiences as a class have been many and varied in the three years that we have spent together. All of us will remember all the time and effort that went into our Junior-Senior Banquet, into our "Aggie" and our class play. But more than the work that we did, we shall remember the pleasant associations that we had with the other members of the class, and the fun and laughter that we shared. Sometimes I have felt that the responsibilities entailed by a class advisorship have been heavy, but it will be with true regret that I see you graduated this spring. Each year has brought us closer together as we have become more intimately acquainted and have had more memories in common. In the days that are to come, you will have to face many realities but I feel certain that you will meet them with the same courage and intelligence that you have shown here in school.

My best wishes for your future.

Martha Myrle Manning
