

Upper left: The entire cast poses for its picture. Upper right: "Prof." Aasland looks over his mail as Lucille Lerud studies up on communicable diseases. Lower left: Wilfred Wold sells a bright idea to Don Erickson, Don Milner, and Alice Reitmeier. Lower right: Irene Olson and Annabelle Jeffery are aghast as Wilfred displays the empty cash box.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

The Senior class play, "Youth Takes Over" was presented Friday evening, March 13th, 1942. The scene of the play was the principal's office of the George Washington High School. The story told of a young high school boy, Wilfred Wold, who was constantly getting into trouble until the new principal, Don Erickson, whose favorite saying was, "Keep a bad boy busy and you have a boy too busy to be bad", made Wilfred the president of the "Youths' Club". This was only the beginning of the real trouble. To raise money for the club, Wilfred and his friends put on a carnival. All the games of chance were so regulated that the players always lost which, of course, was profitable for the club. The money, however, mysteriously disappeared and Wilfred was in more hot water until it was discovered that the janitor had deposited the money in the bank and all was forgiven.

Those in the cast were as follows: Wilfred Wold, Grace Hagen, Donald Erickson, Alice Reitmeier, Donald Milner, Irene Olson, Carlton Knutson, Harold Aasland, Lucille Lerud, Mary Pastuck, Arlene Knutson, Clara Syver-son, Robert Anderson, William Barron, Annabelle Jeffery, Henry Hoff, Myra Berg, Milton Madson, Florence Hess, and Harold Anderson.

The play was directed by Miss Martha M. Manning. Music between acts was furnished by the school orchestra under the direction of Miss Marian Frykman.