

Class Advisers

Marie Ruth Fast

William Barron

To the Seniors of 1945:

Pause just a moment in the midst of the ceremony, bustle, and excitement which is a fitting climax to the eager, joyous activity of your years at Northwest School — pause to consider these our greetings and congratulations.

When we think of you, we shall remember the zest, the determination, and the idealism that is characteristic of youth but peculiarly you. Just as you have distributed your energies and abilities for the honor of our school, so may your labors and your loyalties be just as sincerely and generously bestowed in the richer, productive, adult life to which you are passing. Just as you have dedicated your annual to the men and women of Northwest School who serve in behalf of the highest ideals of our country, so may you dedicate yourselves to the noblest ideals that are in you and that this school has only challenged and developed.

As a class you are saying to the world, "Before us lies the timber; let us build". The foundation is there. Have faith in it: your homes and your school have made it secure. Now we charge you to "build more stately mansions". Out of the warmth and sincerity of our regard for you we wish you Godspeed.

Marie Ruth Fast

William Barron