Northwest School offers advanced debate to the keen-minded and observant student. From an educational standpoint debate fosters public speaking, deep thinking and the study of interesting, worth-while questions.

This year there are two boys and three girls from the senior and advanced classes on the debate team. Miss Linde, the debate coach, has helped them to find information and facts. The proposition to be debated this year is: "Should high schools have compulsory military training after the war". Every Tuesday night the group meets to work on the question. A duo-debate with Morris is scheduled for March 12, 1945. The Northwest team has set as its goal the winning of this contest.
