Advanced Class

We have come to the end of high school days. We leave behind part of our experiences, but for most of us an education has just begun and though we do not remain in the school buildings we ever continue the process of learning.

Foremost of our memories are events of our senior and advanced years. We remember the task of the publication of our AGGIE and the day on which we received it. We recall our class play and its rehearsals. We also remember our struggle for first place in the song contest and field meet.

During our advanced year we had the privilege of becoming the first members of the National Honor Society. Another outstanding date was when our class president presented to Superintendent T. M. McCall a public address system for the gymnasium.

These memories of our school will never fade even though the members of our class be scattered. As we leave we face a world at peace and it is our duty to retain that peace and as good citizens to help construct a new and better world.
