

Action

Action makes a story; without it, though one may have the place and the people, there can be no story. The Northwest School's 1945-46 was throbbing with action—some important, some inconsequential; plots that affected all the characters, others that concerned only a few—all woven together to form one enveloping story. This section reviews the action of the year at NWSA.

