

Awards Assembly

A day that recognizes the valuable work done by the students of the Northwest School is Awards Assembly Day. January 11, 1946, was the day on which these awards were given to those who excelled in their Home Project work this summer.

Various members of the faculty presented these awards to the following groups: In Home Economics groups, Lorraine Anderson was chosen as the girl who did the best work. Paul Proulx won the tractor award; seed award, Bennet Moen; book reading project award, Paul Anderberg; potato project award, James Thibodo; weather project award, Jack Blom; dairy production award, Allen Olson. Kenneth Miller won the prize for doing the best Home Project work for the boys.

These awards are set up as goals to be conquered by each student. The work they accomplish helps them to become better students and citizens.
