

Senior Day

The day finally came when the whole senior class, including the girls, could wear overalls and plaid shirts. The day was "Senior Day" and the class wanted to feel "at home".

At 11:40 a. m., the seniors presented their program, the theme of which was, "The National Barn Dance." With its characters Lulubelle and Scottie, the Dinning Sisters, and Pat Butrum, it proved to be enjoyed by the other classes as well as the seniors themselves. At that time, the Key of Knowledge was presented to Gorden Thureen, president of the junior class, by Harold Younggren, senior class president.

The day was misty and rainy, but that did not stop the seniors from enjoying a tractor-drawn hay ride. After they had gone down the streets of Crookston, they came back for a party in the gymnasium. At the end of the day, most of the "surplus energy" of the seniors was gone.
