

SOUTH OF THE BORDER

The Seniors carried out a "South of the Border" theme on Senior Day, March 21. Costumes worn by the students of the class were characteristic of Mexico and South America.

One of the highlights of the day's activities was the assembly program presented in the auditorium. James Sorenson acted as master of ceremonies. Numbers presented consisted of a dancing girls' trio with Lee Nielson, Verdie Pederson and Glen Torkelson as the "girls," and Darlene Rivard, Patricia Turnmire and James Thibodo as midget tap dancers. Betty Bonnette read the class prophecy and David Lundberg read the class will.

The concluding part of the program was devoted to presenting Aggies by Editor Ellen Thayer to Superintendent McCall, Mr. Reiersgord, financial adviser, Miss Margaret E. Larsen, context adviser, and Senior Class Advisers, Miss Winnifred Erickson and Mr. Bennett.

The day was brought to a close by a dance and party in the Aggie Inn.
