

Shakathon

The day of the walkathon is past, but the Northwest School still has a shakathon, known more formally as the all school reception, held the first Saturday night of school.

Many Aggies went to bed that night with blistered palms and minds crowded with enough names to fill a telephone directory. However, the experience proved worthwhile when the participants found that their circle of acquaintances increased considerably as a result.

