

For Act Two the stage setting is changed. Since the campus is covered with snow in all its majestic beauty, the scene shifts indoors. All actors due on stage take their places as the curtain parts to reveal a scene of great activity. In one corner of the stage the team is shooting baskets; the wrestlers are groaning on the mats down center. Meanwhile the swimming team is splashing happily in the orchestra pit.

BASKETBALL

When the whistle blew for the opening practice of the 1948-49 basketball season, nearly one hundred men reported for action. Out of this large number only a few were chosen to be regularly seen on the floor.

The first battle of the basketball year was a double-header on our own floor with Karlstad and Fisher as opponents. The Aggie quint handed the Karlstad five a defeat of 31-30; however, the score of the Fisher game will remain a dark secret. At the outset of the season the team was not in their best form, but by the time the Ag. Conference is history, the team will have hit its stride.
