

Borgni Skorpen

Friendly Miss Borgni Skorpen is quick to greet everyone with a smile, be it morning, noon or night. When students are in her classes, they become so completely interested in the topic of discussion that they immediately feel at ease. This enables them to do their best work. Long hours and hard work on the Aggie are also part of her extra curricular activities.

Verna Stokke

The task of converting bobby-soxers into accomplished seamstresses is Miss Verna Stokke's. Since she expects and receives a high standard of work, she makes her clothing classes of practical value to her students. One of her newest hobbies is textile painting. As yet she has not tried painting designs on the tobacco leaves which her father raises on the home farm in Viroqua, Wisconsin.

Olaf Soine

Dry humor, sparkling above a flashy bow tie, typifies Dr. Olaf Soine, who, as chairman of the social committee, makes numerous appearances before the student body. The well developed program of social activities is his responsibility. His work in the agronomy department and with the crops judging team provides one of the most valuable factors on this ag campus.

William Sundberg

Eat, laugh, and exercise seems to be Mr. Sundberg's outlook on life from our observations of him. He believes that he must be in as good physical condition as the boys with whom he lives. Aside from his efficient work in the science department, he is also very much interested in sports on the campus. In Robertson Hall he is a sincere friend and counselor of all the boys in his charge.
